Knapp was elected to three-year Seat 5 with 39 votes against Toni Bitonti with 21 votes, and four write-ins. Bitonti had originally filed for Seat 1 but took an option offered by the Hydaburg City Council and mayor, to change her filing to Seat 5 for the November 10 election, Carle explained in an email.

Incumbent Samuel Mooney was returned to three-year Seat 6 with 32 votes, followed closely by candidate Sebastian Bowker with 30 votes and a single vote write-in.

Bowker was successful in his bid for the Hydaburg School Board, receiving 48 votes for two-year Seat 2 against five write-ins.

Incumbent David Nix remains in school board Seat 4 for another three years, after receiving 34 votes to Mark Knapp's 29 votes.

Tolson also earned a three-year term in school board Seat 5 with 42 votes to Toni Bitonti's 17 votes and two write-ins.

Whale Pass

Whale Pass had a strong voter turnout for its Nov. 1 municipal election, with 55 of approximately 100 registered voters casting ballots, City Clerk Randy Toman said in an email. Whale Pass holds its municipal election on the first Tuesday of November.

James Greeley Jr. was elected to three-year Seat F over incumbent William E. Pattison by a 28-21 vote, according to election results provided by Toman.

Josiah M. Huestis was elected to three-year Seat G with 32 votes, followed by write-in candidate Kevin Stone with 19 votes.

Craig School Board

During its November 14 meeting, the Craig City School District Board appointed Heather Mendonsa and Kimberly Wojtak as new board members, said Superintendent Chris Reitan by both phone and email.

The board had two vacancies following the Oct. 4 municipal election, due to the resignation of board member Tristan Douville and when one of the elected candidates declined the position.

Hans Hjort is the board president. Trish Conatser is the vice president, and Marla Dillman serves as secretary/treasurer.

Food insurance

Hunting and Fishing is underway now, and you can freeze, pressure can or make jerky to store these foods. Use the best quality storage methods you can, such as quality vacuum packing; this will help the food store well for longer.

If you don't know how to do something, remember there are countless videos teaching just about anything on the Internet, or ask around locally for help. And if you do know how to do something well, and would consider teaching it, please contact us. We will help to organize a class. Supporting each other as a community has never been more important and connecting with others has proven benefits such as increased health and happiness.

So you don't have to feel insecure in an uncertain world. Even just picking one of the above suggestions will put more food in your pantry and act as future insurance toward more good times.
