Good afternoon,

My company is in the review process for their cultivation application with the AMCO Board. The Board of Directors is seeking confirmation from the AMCO Board on the following:

* Company is in the review process I believe 25th in que' at present. There will be no major construction and only remodeling done to the interior of the facility. Can this remodeling begin prior to fire marshal review? We have already started the application process but feel we should already be in the construction process.

The fire marshal packet requires local government approval to be submitted with the packet however we cannot get approval from local government until the AMCO passes it on to Houston local government. Yet, construction must begin for us to be ready come inspection.

Please confirm for my Board whether or not interior remodeling can begin prior to fire marshal review?

I do understand that your time is of the essence and I appreciate your taking the time on this matter to confirm our construction dilemma. I look forward to hearing from your office as soon as you are able.

Sincerely

Cat Bullington
