To Whom It May Concern:

I, Krystal Dietrich, Owner of Talkeetna Herb Company, License number 10004, have received a NOV for tax delinquency. It is not a huge amount, a decent amount under $10,000 with interest. I have been doing my best to stay afloat and get everything paid. I fully intend to pay, I had been keeping up on my payments (which are fairly high at $1,500 per month), until I had personal home issues such as: paying for my mother's cremation and transportation, being with her at the hospital, 350 miles from home for two months with no where to stay, then getting her moved closer to home and having to drive back and forth to Anchorage, followed by my dog needing an emergency middle of the night c-section ($3,000), then getting stranded out of state for a month with no way home. Everything fell behind, with all the current licensed cultivators, retailers tend to not even email or call back, ever. It is very frustrating, to say the least. Due to the amount of events this Spring and Summer, I was behind on my payment plan from last year (which automatically defaults it) when the tax account was checked by Enforcement. I am not behind on any current payments or dues, only the two months that are on the payment plan, which are being cared for as I get spare cash for product sold.

I sincerely apologize for my delinquency and hope you will understand my circumstances forced use of funds onhand.

To Whom It May Concern:

I cannot certify on my MJ-20 for 2022-2033 renewal, section 3 as I can not remember if my last violation was before or after July 1, 2022, or after. I did previously recive a Notice of Violation for delinquent taxes. The taxes have since been paid and placed on a payment plan satisfactory to the Department of Revenue. I am currently in good standing with the Department.
