NOTE: This is not an accusation or criminal complaint.

On 8/5/25 Investigator Hamilton and I Inspected Tree Logic in Juneau. Alex Alf explained that he plants five clones per strain and only records two in metrc. Alf stated that he then keeps the best two and destroys the rest. All clones should be recorded in metrc.

The inspection further showed that once packages were made from a harvest that the harvest weight is still active in metrc in addition to the package weight.

Subject: Response to Notice of Violation – 3 AAC 306.435

Tree Logic acknowledges the violation and has taken immediate steps to ensure full compliance with 3 AAC 306.435. All clones will now be recorded in METRC at the time of planting, including those that are later destroyed, with destruction properly logged to maintain accurate records. Harvest entries have been corrected to ensure that once packages are created, the corresponding harvest weight is properly closed, eliminating duplicate entries. A full reconciliation of physical inventory and METRC records has been conducted, and discrepancies have been corrected. To prevent recurrence, all cultivation staff are undergoing mandatory METRC compliance training, with signed records maintained. In addition, Tree Logic is updating its written Standard Operating Procedures to include clear workflows for clone propagation and destruction, harvest and packaging entries, and routine inventory reconciliations. A compliance manager has been designated to review METRC entries on a regular basis and run audit reports to identify and correct errors promptly. These remedial measures demonstrate our commitment to accurate inventory tracking and ongoing compliance with AMCO regulations.
