>> I am writing to support the issuance ofI own property adjacent to lots on Helms Loop Road which belong to Carol Waldo, who has applied for a marijuana cultivation facility license at 17 Helms Loop Road in Haines, Alaska.

>>
>> In my opinion, it would be a very good thing to re-purpose some of that property to that agricultural use, as it will benefit the community in a number of ways. For a starter, local people buy marijuana which is of unknown origin and quality. All that money leaves the community. Now that marijuana is legal for recreational use, the community will benefit from having a supply which is of known origin and quality. In addition, the sales will keep a large amount of money in the community while also generating tax income for our local government.
>>
>> To refuse local people the right to grow marijuana on a commercial basis will have only one result, and that is that illegal sales will continue to cost the community in terms of lost revenues and the imposition unnecessary fines & incarcerations upon citizens of Haines, Alaska.
