Describe your policies and procedures for preventing diversion of marijuana or marijuana product:

Alaskan Dream understands that high tech surveillance and security systems cannot fully prevent product diversion, as 90% of diversion in the marijuana industry comes from employees. We will implement strict inventory tracking as well as strong business practices in order to combat theft by employees. The best way to prevent product diversion is by building employee loyalty. We will provide good wages and opportunity for career advancement to reduce turnover and build employee loyalty. Happy employees are far less inclined to steal and are more invested in the success of the company.

Describe your policies and procedures for preventing loitering:

Alaskan Dream will not be making any sales at our facility. In the event that an unwanted person is loitering, they will be asked to vacate the premise by one of the owners. if owner is unable to do so, law enforcement will be notified.

Describe your policies and procedures regarding the use of any additional security device, such as a motion detector, pressure switch, and duress, panic, or hold-up alarm to enhance security of the proposed premises:

Describe your policies and procedures regarding the actions to be taken by a licensee, employee, or agent when any automatic or electronic notification system alerts a local law enforcement agency of an unauthorized breach of security:

Due to location and limited trooper resources, law enforcement will only be notified if suspicious activity or indication of an intrusion has occurred or is in progress. We do not want this system to be burdensome on our otherwise limited law enforcement. Several things can trigger a false alarm.

In case of a triggered alarm and owners are off-site:
1) View premise on remote video cameras
2) If no activity is detected, we will proceed to premise and inspect outside of building for signs of vandalism
3) If there is any indication of intrusion, law enforcement will be notified and we will wait for their arrival to proceed.
4) If there is no indication of intrusion, we will proceed cautiously to inspect premises
