Alyeska pipeline

WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF A

PIPELINE-RELATED EMERGENCY

The Trans-Alaska Pipeline System (TAPS) was designed and constructed to the highest standards to safely transport crude oil from the North Slope to Valdez, however, emergencies may still occur. TAPS consists of an 800-mile 48" oil pipeline, 168-mile 8"-10" fuel gas pipeline from Pump Station 1 to Pump Station 4, the Valdez Marine Terminal and other related facilities.

RECOGNIZING A LEAK

If you see, hear, or smell the pipeline during an emergency, you may detect an oil or natural gas leak by:

SMELL: Crude oil may have an odor similar to fuel oil or gasoline. Natural gas leaks may be detected by a pungent, rotten egg or sulfur odor.

SIGHT: A pool of dark liquid or discolored vegetation near the pipeline may indicate a crude oil leak. A dense white cloud or fog and flames may indicate a natural gas leak.

SOUND: An unusual noise, hissing or roaring sound may be a sign of a leak.

IF A LEAK OCCURS

- Do not approach the spill, leak or vapor cloud.
- Leave the area immediately.
- Do not touch leaking liquids or breathe leaking gases.
- Do not create sparks, light matches, start an engine, switch on a light, use a camera flash or cellular telephone. These actions may ignite the leaked or spilled substance.
- Watch others nearby at the possibility of a pipeline release.
- Provide your name, location, description of the leak or possible leak and information on how you can be contacted.

From a safe location, call Alyeska Pipeline Service Company collect at (907) 835-4799. You may also contact 911 or other local emergency response numbers.

EXCAVATING & INSTALLATIONS NEAR THE PIPELINE

CALL 811 BEFORE YOU DIG. Some portions of the Trans-Alaska pipeline and the fuel gas line are buried. Excavation and installation related activities are prohibited along all portions of the pipeline right-of-way unless prior authorization from Alyeska Pipeline Service Company has been received. Alyeska's Damage Prevention Program was designed to reduce and eliminate excavation and installation-related accidents.

Notice of Intended Disposition

Notice is here given in accordance with the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 43 CFR 10.6 (c), of the intent to transfer custody of Native American human remains in the control of the U.S. Department of the Interior, National Park Service, Western Arctic National Parklands, Noatak National Preserve.

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by Noatak National Preserve officials in consultation with representatives of the Native Village of Noatak.

In 2010, human remains were removed from site AMR-211, in Northwest Arctic Borough, AK. The human remains were collected from the ground surface at Noatak National Preserve by a park visitor. In August 2010, the park visitor transported the human remains to the National Park Service administrative office in Fairbanks, AK. No known individuals were identified.

Officials of Noatak National Preserve have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(1), the human remains described above represent the physical remains of one individual of Native American ancestry.

Lastly, officials of the Noatak National Preserve have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.6 (a), a relationship of shared group identity can be reasonably traced between the human remains and the Native Village of Noatak.

Representatives of any other Indian tribe or Native Hawaiian organization that wishes to claim ownership or control of the human remains should contact Maija Lukin, Superintendent, Noatak National Preserve, P.O. Box 1029, Kotzebue, AK 99752, telephone (907) 442-3890, before April 28, 2019. Disposition of the human remains to the Native Village of Noatak may proceed after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

Noatak National Preserve is responsible for notifying the Native Village of Noatak that this notice has been published.
Published: March 21 & March 28, 2019
