Congratulations to NOMAR. The Made in Alaska program has named the Homer-based company NOMAR its Manufacturer of the Year for 2013. NOMAR is a prime example of an Alaska business that has become an important part of the community and demonstrates the can-do Alaskan spirit. The Division of Economic Development Director Joe Jacobson presented the 2013 award to Kate Mitchell and Jennifer Hakala at the Alaska Small Business Development Annual Celebration Luncheon held April 30 at the Dena'ina Center in Anchorage.

NOMAR has been an honorable holder of a Made in Alaska permit since April of 1994 and continues to proudly display the emblem on all of their fisheries products, fleece clothing, outdoor gear, and upholstery. NOMAR is known for its high quality, high standards, and made-to-last-forever products.

In an era when apparel, canvas, and upholstery manufacturing businesses have closed and production shifts out of the country, NOMAR's persistence of manufacturing high-quality, Alaska-specific designs, in a friendly local setting have stood out. A family enterprise with many talented employees, NOMAR pays attention to each detail and builds its products with high-grade, weather-resistant materials and marine-grade hardware.

Owners Ben and Kate Mitchell started working with canvas in 1976 when they lived in Ketchikan. After a Coast Guard transfer to Homer in 1978, they set up shop in a converted GMC school bus heated by a small barrel stove and parked in the boat yard on Kachemak Drive. Known then as "Mitchell's Marine Canvas & Upholstery", they manufactured their custom boat tops with a single commercial sewing machine.

With initiative and drive, the Mitchells expanded their company and changed its name to NOMAR (Northern Marine Canvas Products). Leaving behind their modest school bus in 1993, NOMAR now resides in a beautiful retail store and has 10,000 square feet of workspace. As well as Kate and Ben and their adult children Richard and Jennifer, the business employs 16 full-time employees with diverse sewing and design skills.

The durability of NOMAR products for commercial fisherman has earned the company a statewide reputation. The expanded line of products available in the retail store and online attracts customers from around the world. NOMAR's product lines are well-suited for the Alaska and similar environments: Polarfleece® jackets, sweatshirts, Fisherman's Pullover, and other garments are designed to be warm, tough, and good looking.

NOMAR also produces bags for almost every purpose, season, and adventure. Products for Alaska fisheries including the original NOMAR "Brailer" and "Slush" bags are produced in all sizes and shapes.

2013 Manufacturer of the Year (Continued)

In addition, NOMAR's full-service boat shop does custom design to meet the canvas and upholstery needs of boat, home, and RV owners. NOMAR can outfit a new boat or refurbish an old one with new seats, bunks, carpet and window treatments. The upholstery department can upgrade a worn-out, duct-taped snow machine seat or create an entire set of booths for a new restaurant.

Congratulations, NOMAR!

Workshop and Webinar Recap

Earlier this year, Made in Alaska presented five free workshops in Anchorage, Cordova, Soldotna, Homer and Seldovia. In addition, we hosted five free online webinars on pertinent topics. All workshops and webinars were successful and well-attended, with ten to twenty people at each event.

Workshop topics:

- Made In Alaska Overview
- Expanding Your Sales
- Promoting Your Company
- Digital Photography

Webinar topics:

- Color Forecast
- Packaging and Presentation of Products
- Alaska Small Business Development Center
- Booth Merchandising and Lighting
- Company Branding

If you missed any of the webinar presentations, you can access them on our website at www.madeinalaska.org under "Previous Training Presentations." If you are unable to download the file from the website, please let us know. We will be happy to burn a CD of the recording and mail it to you. Each presentation is about an hour to watch.
