

Tanana (Too'gha) Activity Report

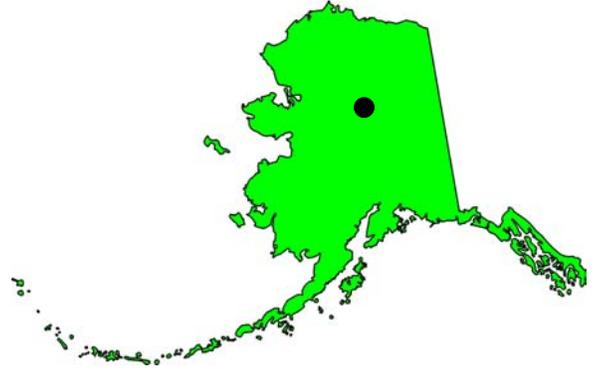

Community Overview

Lead RUBA Staff: Irene Catalone, Fairbanks Office

2001 Population: 308

Region: Interior

Local Governments: First Class City

Water and sewer utilities are operated by Too'gha, Inc., a non-profit. Water is derived from three wells near the Yukon River, and four watering points are available. In 1970, 55 individual wells were drilled, but due to permafrost and poor water quality, the project essentially failed. Nearly all residents now haul their own water from the washeteria and use privies and honeybuckets. In 1976, a piped water and sewer system was constructed to serve the school, teacher's quarters, clinic, senior center, and IRA Council building. Funds have been provided to overhaul portions of the City's piped systems. A new washeteria and water treatment plant were recently completed. However, the foundation for the treatment plant is failing and may threaten the new building. Construction has begun to replace the failing pipes in 40 homes downtown. The landfill uses an incinerator, and provides recycling services.

Organizational Management Comments: Adequate bookkeeping, managerial and operator training have been provided to staff. The problem is with staff. The manager has mainly been gone from the community and according to my last trip reports flies into the community once a month to do payroll. Otherwise, it’s done on a volunteer basis by a board member. The manager has very recently returned to the community. It remains to be seen if necessary items that need attention are addressed. For example, although user information has been provided, there are no agreements (customer or otherwise) in place and necessary fees are not being collected. The system needs an operator and does not have an operator in place. Right now the system is dependent on the RMW to keep going. The agreements and policies need to be adopted and adhered to if this system is going to remain operational.
