State of Alaska DEPARTMENT OF LAW

ETHICS ACT PROCEDURES FOR BOARDS & COMMISSIONS

All board and commission members and staff should be familiar with the Executive Branch Ethics Act procedures outlined below.

Who Is My Designated Ethics Supervisor (DES)?

Every board or commission subject to the Ethics Act<sup>1</sup> has several ethics supervisors designated by statute.

- The chair serves as DES for board or commission members.
- The chair serves as DES for the executive director.
- The executive director serves as DES for the staff.
- The governor is the DES for a chair.<sup>2</sup>

What Do I Have To Disclose?

The Ethics Act requires members of boards and commissions to disclose:

- Any matter that is a potential conflict of interest with actions that the member may take when serving on the board or commission.
- Any circumstance that may result in a violation of the Ethics Act.
- Any personal or financial interest (or that of an immediate family member) in a state grant, contract, lease or loan that is awarded or administered by the member's board or commission.
- · The receipt of certain gifts.

The executive director of the board or commission and its staff, as state employees, must also disclose:

- Compensated outside employment or services.
- Volunteer service, if any compensation, including travel and meals, is paid or there is a potential conflict with state duties.

For more information regarding the types of matters that may result in violations of the Ethics Act, board or commission members should refer to the guide, "Ethics Information for Members of Boards and Commissions." The executive director and staff should refer to the guide, Ethics Information for Public Employees." Both guides and disclosure forms may be found on the Department of Law's ethics website.

How Do I Avoid Violations of the Ethics Act?

- · Make timely disclosures!
- · Follow required procedures!
- Provide all information necessary to a correct evaluation of the matter!<sup>3</sup>
- · When in doubt, disclose and seek advice!
- · Follow the advice of your DES!

What Are The Disclosure Procedures for Board and Commission Members?

The procedural requirements for disclosures by members are set out in AS 39.52.220 and 9 AAC 52.120. One goal of these provisions is to help members avoid violations of the Ethics Act. The procedures provide the opportunity for members to seek review of matters in advance of taking action to ensure that actions taken will be consistent with the Act.

Procedure for declaring actual or potential conflicts.

Members must declare potential conflicts and other matters that may violate the Ethics Act on the public record and in writing to the chair.

Disclosure on the public record. Members must identify actual and potential conflicts orally at the board or commission's public meeting in advance of participating in deliberations or taking any official action on the matter.

- A member must always declare a conflict and may choose to refrain from voting, deliberations or other participation regarding a matter.<sup>4</sup>
- If a member is uncertain whether participation would result in a violation of the Act, the member should disclose the circumstances and seek a determination from the chair.

Disclosure in writing at a public meeting. In addition to an oral disclosure at a board or commission meeting, members' disclosures must be made in writing.

- If the meeting is recorded, a tape or transcript of the meeting is preserved and there is a method for identifying the declaration in the record, an oral disclosure may serve as the written disclosure.
- Alternatively, the member must note the disclosure on the Notice of Potential Violation disclosure form and the chair must record the determination.

Confidential disclosure in advance of public meeting. Potential conflicts may be partially addressed in advance of a board or commission's public meeting based on the published meeting agenda or other board or commission activity.

- A member identifying a conflict or potential conflict submits a Notice of Potential Violation to the chair, as DES, in advance of the public meeting.
- This written disclosure is considered confidential.
- The chair may seek advice from the Attorney General.
- The chair makes a written determination, also confidential, whether the disclosed matter represents a conflict that will result in a violation of the Ethics Act if the member participates in official action addressing the matter.
- If so, the chair directs the member to refrain from participating in the matter that is the subject of the disclosure.
- An oral report of the notice of potential violation and the determination that the member must refrain from participating is put on the record at a public meeting.<sup>6</sup>

Determinations at the public meeting. When a potential conflict is declared by a member for the public record, the following procedure must be followed:

- The chair states his or her determination regarding whether the member may participate.
- Any member may then object to the chair's determination.
- If an objection is made, the members present, excluding the member who made the disclosure, vote on the matter.
- Exception: A chair's determination that is made consistent with advice provided by the Attorney General may not be overruled.
- If the chair, or the members by majority vote, determines that a violation will exist if the disclosing member continues to participate, the member must refrain from voting, deliberating or participating in the matter.<sup>7</sup>

If the chair identifies a potential conflict, the same procedures are followed. If possible, the chair should forward a confidential written notice of potential violation to the Office of the Governor for a determination in advance of the board or commission meeting. If the declaration is first made at the public meeting during which the matter will be addressed, the members present, except for the chair, vote on the matter. If a majority determines that a violation of the Ethics Act will occur if the chair continues to participate, the chair shall refrain from voting, deliberating or participating in the matter. A written disclosure or copy of the public record regarding the oral disclosure should be forwarded to the Office of the Governor for review by the chair's DES.

Procedures for Other Member Disclosures

A member's interest in a state grant, contract, lease or loan and receipt of gifts are disclosed by filling out the appropriate disclosure form and submitting the form to the chair for approval. The disclosure forms are found on the Department of Law's ethics website.

What Are The Disclosure Procedures for Executive Directors and Staff?

Ethics disclosures of the executive director or staff are made in writing to the appropriate DES (chair for the executive director and the executive director for staff).

Disclosure forms are found on the ethics website, noted above.

Notices of Potential Violations. Following receipt of a written notice of potential violation, the DES investigates, if necessary, and makes a written determination whether a violation of the Ethics Act could exist or will occur. A DES may seek advice from the Attorney General. If feasible, the DES shall reassign duties to cure a potential violation or direct divestiture or removal by the employee of the personal or financial interests giving rise to the potential violation.

- These disclosures are not required to be made part of the public record.
- A copy of a determination is provided to the employee.
- Both the notice and determination are confidential.

Other Disclosures. The DES also reviews other ethics disclosures and either approves them or determines what action must be taken to avoid a violation of the Act. In addition to the disclosures of certain gifts and interests in the listed state matters, state employees must disclose all outside employment or services for compensation.

The DES must provide a copy of an approved disclosure or other determination the employee.

How Are Third Party Reports of Potential Violations or Complaints Handled?

Any person may report a potential violation of the Ethics Act by a board or commission member or its staff to the appropriate DES or file a complaint alleging actual violations with the Attorney General.

- Notices of potential violations and complaints must be submitted in writing and under oath.
- Notices of potential violations are investigated by the appropriate DES who makes a written determination whether a violation may exist.<sup>8</sup>
- Complaints are addressed by the Attorney General under separate procedures outlined in the Ethics Act.
- These matters are confidential, unless the subject waives confidentiality or the matter results in a public accusation.

What Are The Procedures for Quarterly Reports?

Designated ethics supervisors must submit copies of notices of potential violations received and the corresponding determinations to the Attorney General for review by the state ethics attorney as part of the quarterly report required by the Ethics Act.

- Reports are due in April, July, October and January for the preceding quarter.
- · A sample report may be found on the Department of Law's ethics website.
- An executive director may file a quarterly report on behalf of the chair and combine it with his or her own report.
- If a board or commission does not meet during a quarter and there is no other reportable activity, the DES advises the Department of Law Ethics Attorney by e-mail at ethicsreporting@alaska.gov and no other report is required.

If the state ethics attorney disagrees with a reported determination, the attorney will advise the DES of that finding. If the ethics attorney finds that there was a violation, the member who committed the violation is not liable if he or she fully disclosed all relevant facts reasonably necessary to the ethics supervisor's or commission's determination and acted consistent with the determination.

How Does A DES or Board or Commission Get Ethics Advice?

A DES or board or commission may make a written request to the Attorney General for an opinion regarding the application of the Ethics Act. In practice, the Attorney General, through the state ethics attorney, also provides advice by phone or e-mail to designated ethics supervisors, especially when time constraints prevent the preparation of timely written opinions.

- A request for advice and the advisory opinion are confidential.
- The ethics attorney endeavors to provide prompt assistance, although that may not always be possible.
- The DES must make his or her determination addressing the potential violation based on the opinion provided.

It is the obligation of each board or commission member, as well as the staff, to ensure that the public's business is conducted in a manner that is consistent with the standards set out in the Ethics Act. We hope this summary assists you in ensuring that your obligations are met.

- <sup>1</sup> The Act covers a board, commission, authority, or board of directors of a public or quasi-public corporation, established by statute in the executive branch of state government.
- <sup>2</sup> The governor has delegated the DES responsibility to Guy Bell, Administrative Director of the Office of the Governor.
- <sup>3</sup> You may supplement the disclosure form with other written explanation as necessary. Your signature on a disclosure certifies that, to the best of your knowledge, the statements made are true, correct and complete. False statements are punishable.
- <sup>4</sup> In most, but not all, situations, refraining from participation ensures that a violation of the Ethics Act does not occur. Abstention does not cure a conflict with respect to a significant direct personal or financial interest in a state grant, contract, lease or loan because the Ethics Act prohibition applies whether or not the public officer actually takes official action.
- <sup>5</sup> The chair must give a copy of the written determination to the disclosing member. There is a determination form available on the Department of Law's ethics web page. The ethics supervisor may also write a separate memorandum.
- <sup>6</sup> In this manner, a member's detailed personal and financial information may be protected from public disclosure.
- <sup>7</sup> When a matter of particular sensitivity is raised and the ramifications of continuing without an advisory opinion from the Attorney General may affect the validity of the board or commission's action, the members should consider tabling the matter so that an opinion may be obtained.
- <sup>8</sup> The DES provides a copy of the notice to the employee who is the subject of the notice and may seek input from the employee, his or her supervisor and others. The DES may seek advice from the Attorney General. A copy of the DES' written determination is provided to the subject employee and the complaining party. The DES submits a copy of both the notice and the determination to the Attorney General for review as part of the DES' quarterly report. If feasible, the DES shall reassign duties to cure a potential violation or direct divestiture or removal by the employee of the personal or financial interests giving rise to the potential violation.

We have organized the meetings as follows:

- 2. Review guidance documents: Documents—such as PDFs and web pages—providing guidance on regulatory requirements will be published in the Online Public Notice System (OPN) and moved forward for review by the Department of Law. Guidance documents are intended to explain requirements contained in statutes or regulations or to provide background information. This includes forms, checklists, applications, FAQs, board opinions, and other types of information relating to the public process. The legal review will ensure no existing or new documents contain guidance that should actually be promulgated as a regulation. Once legal reviews are completed next spring, the division and its boards may need to address any changes.

3. Establish a baseline of current regulatory requirements: Using statewide guidance, staff are currently reviewing regulations and determining what constitutes a regulatory requirement using the guidance provided by the Department of Law. All requirements are counted and identified as "mandatory"— required by federal, statutory, or court-ordered mandates—or "discretionary"—those that the board has the ability to evaluate, interpret, and adopt. Discretionary requirements with room for improvement in quality, transparency, and efficiency will be identified by staff and moved forward for each board to consider including it its regulatory reform plan.

Individual professional licensing boards are responsible for implementing the deliverables of AO 360 now through 2027. Meeting these deadlines set by the Office of the Governor will require boards to either hold additional meetings or significantly expand their agendas:

- 1. Review public and staff recommendations for regulatory reform (starting in November): Individual boards will review the input received from the public and additional changes recommended by staff. This is the opportunity to jump start any pending board regulations changes or plans that have been put "on the back burner."
- 2. Develop a regulatory reform plan (due in February): Design and approve a plan to reduce specific regulatory requirements by 15% in calendar year 2026, culminating in a total reduction of 25% by the end of calendar year 2027. This plan must be completed and provided to me by February 13. I will submit it to the department to be included as part of the department's overall plan. After the Office of the Governor has reviewed and approved the proposed plan, it will be posted on OPN. At that point, any regulation change included in the board's plan has the green light to move forward through the usual regulations adoption process. (No additional waiver is required.)

To summarize, AO 360 requires the division to review regulations, count the number of requirements, determine which are discretionary, and mak a recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory reform plan. It does not diminish the authority of the board to propose and adopt regulations concerning their industry. The Office of the Governor encourages each board and agency to focus on the end goals of regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and adopt regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory transparency and efficiency recommendation to each board so it can approve a regulatory reform plan. As required by the initiative, Sara Chambers has been designated by Commissioner Sande as our department's Agency Regulatory Liaison, providing training and guidance, as well as serving as the point of contact with the Office of the Governor and the Department of Law for all divisions and corporate agencies within the DCCED umbrella. She is assisting us in seeking modifications to the statewide schedule of deadlines, as long as we are making progress toward the Governor's goal.

Timelines and guidance are fast-moving and subject to change. The key deadlines the board should know are:

- Informational sessions for board members to hear details and ask questions:
  - o Monday, October 13 at 12:00 p.m.
  - o Meeting ID: 219 918 166 590
  - o Passcode: Hm2TC2ad

Regulatory Reduction Guide

A Guide for Achieving the 25% Regulatory Requirement Reduction under Governor Dunleavy's Administrative Order 360

Administrative Order 360 requires that Alaska agencies achieve a 25% reduction in regulatory requirements. This guide is intended to help agencies achieve that goal.

Which agencies are required to reduce regulatory requirements by 25%?

The 25% reduction applies to all executive branch agencies, including departments, boards, commissions, and public corporations (hereafter referred to as "agencies"). Each agency that has statutory authority to issue regulations and has issued one or more regulations in the past must reduce its regulatory requirements by 15% by December 31, 2026, and 25% by December 31, 2027.

Which requirements are subject to the 25% reduction goal?

The 25% reduction goal applies to discretionary regulatory requirements that agencies adopt. It does not apply to regulations that are mandated by state statutes, federal statutes or regulations, or orders issued by state or federal courts. If, however, the implementing regulation requires additional steps not mandated by a statute, such as perhaps requiring an application to be notarized, then that additional requirement is not mandatory but is in fact a discretionary requirement which must be counted.

Though agencies do not have to count existing regulatory requirements mandated by statute towards their total number of requirements or new requirements mandated by statute as increases, they can claim credit for regulatory reductions that are mandated by statute.

What counts as a regulatory request.

To achieve a 25% reduction in requirements, agencies must first determine what counts as a regulatory requirement. Agencies need to calculate both the total number of existing requirements, the baseline, and the number of requirements that are added or eliminated by their regulatory changes. For instance, if an agency starts with 1000 requirements, adds 100 new requirements in the next three years, and deletes 400 other requirements over the same period, for a net reduction of 30%, then it has met its 25% reduction goal.<sup>1</sup>

This guide cannot address every situation that agencies might confront, so please consult with your Agency Regulatory Liaison if you come across a situation that requires guidance.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Here's the math: 1000 + 100 - 400 = 700. That involves a net reduction of 300 requirements (1000 - 700), which is a 30% reduction (300/1000).

Defining a Regulatory Requirement

A regulatory requirement requires another party to do (or not do) something. Often, regulatory requirements will include words like "shall," "must," "will," or "may not." If a regulatory requirement is found in a guidance document, it must either be removed or promulgated as a regulation.

When identifying regulatory requirements, the key questions are "does this impose a burden on another party by requiring it to act or refrain from acting?" or "does this impose a standard used by the agency in dealing with the public?" If so, it is likely a requirement.<sup>2</sup>

For guidance documents specifically, each agency should calculate the total number of words in their guidance documents and they will receive credit for reducing the size of the documents.

Multi-Element Subsections

Agencies should count each element that requires a party to take a discrete action as a separate requirement, even if there are multiple elements embedded in a single section or subsection. Consider, for instance, the following:

11 AAC 09.030. State Recreation Rivers System; Generally allowed uses.

(2)(A)(i) the total surface area of the dock is not more than 100 square feet (+1); the dock does not extend more than 15 feet from the water body's edge at any water level (+1), and the walkway, ladder, or ramp connecting the dock to the shore is no more than four feet wide (+1);

Each item in the list 's a requirement. Therefore, each item should be counted.

If, however, a section or subsection includes a variety of different options but only imposes one requirement, the options do not need to be counted separately. Here's an example:

11 AAC 09.030. State Recreation Rivers System; Generally allowed uses.

- (1) travel or travel-related activities, as follows:
  - (A) hiking, backpacking, skiing, climbing, or other foot travel;
  - (B) bicycling;
  - (C) travel by horse or dogsled or with pack animals; (+1)

The provision imposes only one discrete requirement by defining travel or travel-related activities.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Agencies should keep track of all requirements, including those that are statutorily mandated. While the mandated requirements are not subject to the reduction baseline, it is useful to keep track of other requirements, as doing so allows the legislature to identify opportunities for reducing legislatively mandated burdens.

Similarly, if a regulation lists multiple different ways to violate a requirement but a regulated party would generally only do one of the things listed, then the entire provision should only be counted as one requirement. Consider this example:

11 AAC 18.010. Park Uses; Special park use permits.

- (a) No person may promote, organize, or engage in any of the following activities in a state park without a permit: (+1)
  - (1) an organized or promoted assembly of more than 20 persons; (+1)
- (2) any promotional or entertainment event, including an organized athletic event, competitive recreational event, or spectator event, whether or not an admission fee is charged; (+1)

First, no one can "promote, organize, or engage" in multiple activities at a state park; this would just count as one requirement since all three terms basically describe similar activities and they are meant to broadly describe "activities." The twenty-person requirement is a separate defining requirement. The list in (a)(2), however, is a list and the permittee is likely to only meet one of the requirements listed.

Language that Elaborates on a Requirement

Agencies do not need to count language that elaborates on a requirement as itself being a discrete requirement. An example appears below:

18 AAC 76.200. Alaska Drinking Water Fund; Purpose.

(b) Except as otherwise p ovided by the Safe Drinking Water Act, the Alaska drinking water fund may be used only as provided in 42 U.S.C. 300j-12(a)(2) for drinking water projects, including projects to plan, design, build, construct, or rehabilitate a public drinking water collection, storage, treatment, or distribution system. (+1)

In this provision, the only requirement is that the fund be used for a drinking water project. The following examples are only an elaboration of the requirement. An applicant will not need to meet each project type. Language that is Ambiguous as to Whether Action is Required

As noted above, regulatory requirements will not always involve language stating that a party "shall" or "must" take some action. In some cases, the regulation will use language such as "should" or "may," but it still imposes a binding obligation. Consider the following example:

11 AAC 12,130. State Park Land and Water Restrictions Pets.

(b) No person may have a dog or other pet that creates excessive noise, a public safety hazard, or unsanitary conditions in a developed facility of a state park. (+1)

Although the language uses the word "may," it is still a requirement when taken into account with the preceding language "No person." It should be counted as a regulatory requirement.

Programs Involving Optional Participation

In some cases, regulations provide regulated parties with an option to comply but impose requirements on all parties who elect to comply. Agencies should still tabulate any language that imposes a mandatory obligation on a party that chooses to participate as a regulatory requirement.

18 AAC 65.025. Litter Reduction and Resource Recovery Grants; Application and review procedure.

- (a) Beginning with fiscal year 1982, on or before October 1 of each year, the department will provide public notice of the availability of grants for the purposes set out in 18 AAC 65.010.
  - (b) A complete grant application submitted under this chapter must contain (0) (1) the name, address, and the telephone number of the applicant, the name of a contact person representing the applicant, and an explanation of the applicant's eligibility to apply for a grant under 18 AAC 65.010; (+3)

The decision to apply for the grant is optional and does not count as a requirement. However, requirements within the application are considered requirements. In this example, the applicant's identifying information is one requirement and the applicant's eligibility status is a separate requirement.

Prohibited Actions

A requirement not to do something is equivalent to a requirement to take some action. Any discrete prohibition from taking some action should therefore count as a regulatory requirement. Consider this example:

18 AAC 32.060. Raw milk and raw milk product.

Except as provided in 18 AAC 32.010(c), a milk producer may not allow raw milk or a raw milk product, including cream from raw milk, to be removed from the dairy farm unless (+1)

(1) the product is being transported directly to a milk processing plant with a permit issued under 18 AAC 32.030 or by another state; (+1)

In this example, the milk producer may not allow the raw milk products to be removed from the dairy; this is an imposed requirement. The second sentence allowing the removal if there is a permit becomes a second requirement.

Requirements in Materials Adopted by Reference

Alaska law allows agencies to impose binding obligations by referring to a document outside of the Alaska Administrative Code (AS 44.62.245). An example of materials adopted by reference appears below<sup>3</sup>:

18 AAC 62.410. Treatment Storage and Disposal; Standards applicable to an owner or operator of a hazardous waste treatment, storage, or disposal facility.

Regulations of the federal government applicable to the owner or operator of a hazardous waste treatment, storage, or disposal facility, including standards for universal waste management, promulgated and published as 40 C.F.R. Part 264, 40 C.F.R. Part 265, and 40 C.F.R. Part 273.60 - 273.62, as revised as of July 1, 2002, are adopted by reference.

In this case, the agency is requiring regulated parties to comply with all the requirements included in each of the documents being referenced. The agency must therefore go through the entirety of each of these documents and count every single requirement they contain using the methodology described above.

In many cases, an agency will not necessarily intend that regulated parties comply with every single requirement in each document incorporated by reference. If that is the case, the regulation should explicitly identify the portions that the agency intends to be binding on regulated parties. As part of the process of reviewing their regulations, agencies must go through each incorporated document and decide whether they intend all the requirements to be binding. If not, agencies must modify their regulations to identify with greater specificity which portions of the documents they reference are binding.

Agencies must also periodically review the documents to ensure that they reflect the most up-to-date versions. In the example provided above, for instance, they referred to federal regulations from 2002. As agencies review their regulations, they must update their incorporated documents to verify that the appropriate version is referenced. Sometimes, for example, federal agencies or other organizations may delete older versions of documents rendering their referencing obsolete.

What types of actions count towards the 25% reduction goal?

Regulatory reduction is not a "one-size-fits-all" process. There are many ways that an agency can go about reducing regulatory burdens, and the Governor wants to make sure that agencies consider all of them and get credit for any reduction they undertake.

Eliminating Discrete Requirements

The most straightforward way of reducing the burden is simply by eliminating requirements. When agencies revisit their regulations, they should carefully review each provision and decide if any requirements should be eliminated. In so doing, agencies should be mindful of the important role of regulations in promoting public health, safety, and welfare, and developing our natural resources, and should not eliminate any requirements that are critical to protecting the public and the environment.

There are often numerous, unnecessary requirements that simply impose an unnecessary burden on businesses, the public, and the agencies themselves. Reporting requirements can be an example of unnecessary and burdensome regulations. Some reports may involve nothing more than ensure that regulated parties are in compliance, but other reports may involve nothing more than a box-checking exercise.

Agencies must carefully consider all the discrete equirements in each of their regulations and decide what is truly necessary and what is not. As part of this process, agencies must undertake active outreach to the regulated community. Businesses and individuals who must fill out forms, file reports, undergo required trainings, and undertake a variety of other government-mandated tasks have the best sense of the burden regulations impose.

Reducing Regulatory Burdens

Though eliminating unnecessary regulatory requirements is important, there are many other ways to reduce regulatory burdens. Consider, for instance, a requirement that an applicant for a professional license complete 1000 hours of training before he or she can be certified. Some training is necessary, so the requirement should not be eliminated completely, but 1000 hours may be excessive. Requiring 500 hours of training, for instance, may be sufficient. By making this change, the agency is reducing the regulatory burden by 50% (1000 minus 500 hours).

There are many ways that agencies can reduce regulatory burdens rather than eliminating them completely, including the following.

- Reducing the required training hours (example cited above).
- Reducing the number of forms regulated parties must fill out or shortening the forms.
- Reducing a license fee, fine, or other monetary expense imposed by a regulation.
- Reducing the areas that are subject to the regulation.

- Creating a waiver or exemption or extending it to additional regulated parties.
- Other efficiencies and administrative reductions created by the department.

Each of these involves a reduction in regulatory burden, but they are reducing different aspects of regulatory burdens (hours, paperwork, cost, scope). That can make it difficult to determine how much the regulatory burden is being reduced. Oftentimes these reductions can be monetized.

If your agency is considering changing a regulatory requirement in a way that reduces costs, promotes market competition, or makes it easier to achieve regulatory compliance but that does not reduce the overall number of regulatory requirements or it produces savings that can be monetized, please contact your Agency Regulatory Liaison who will work with the Office of the Governor to ensure the department receives credit toward their overall reduction goal. The important goal to remember through this process is to reduce the regulatory burdens on all Alaskans, whether they are mandates, direct costs, or overly lengthy documents. We will work with you to ensure your agency receives the credit they are due.

Other Deregulatory Actions

There may be a handful of cases in which an agency is modifying a regulatory requirement but is not eliminating it completely and cannot easily calculate the monetary value of reducing the associated burden. For instance, as noted above, here may be instances in which an agency creates a new approach to achieving compliance that adds new regulatory provisions but actually decreases the overall burden on regulated parties.

Agencies may also sometimes replace so-called "design standards," which tell regulated parties exactly what they must do, with "performance standards," which set a goal and leave it up to the regulated parties to deci. achieve it. In this case, it may not be possible to determine the associated cost savings until the agency calculates the cost of whatever new compliance approaches regulated parties come up with.

If your agency is considering changing a regulatory requirement in a way that promotes market competition or makes it easier to achieve regulatory compliance but that does not reduce the overall number of regulatory requirements or produce savings that can be monetized, please contact your Agency Regulatory Liaison who will work with the Office of the Governor to ensure the department receives credit toward their overall reduction goal.

Actions that Do Not Count Towards the 25% Reduction Goal

Temporary changes in regulatory requirements do not count towards the 25% reduction target. Merely delaying a regulation also does not count towards the 25% reduction target.

When does a reduction count towards the 25% goal?

Administrative Order 360 mandates a 25% reduction in regulatory requirements by December 31, 2027.

A reduction in requirements does not officially count towards the 25% goal until it is completely final. That is to say, the change must have gone through the entire regulatory process.

How does the 25% reduction goal apply to guidance documents?

Guidance documents are intended to explain requirements contained in statutes or regulations or to provide background information; they may not contain requirements governing regulated parties that must be reflected in regulation.<sup>4</sup>

Agencies should strive to keep guidance documents short, simple, accurate, and up to date. Allowing guidance documents to become stale or failing to rescind inaccurate or irrelevant guidance can create significant confusion for the regulated community and the general public. In many cases, agencies have issued new guidance documents without necessarily rescinding older versions. In that light, agencies should also strive to reduce the length of their guidance documents.

Of course, agencies should not cut language that is valuable to understanding regulatory requirements. For example, cutting illustrative examples or making specific language more vague may shorten a guidance document's overall length but would make it less useful to the public. But guidance documents often contain extraneous or redundant information that can be eliminated. In addition, agencies often issue multiple guidance documents on the same subject, and consolidating those documents will both eliminate confusion and reduce the amount of text that the public must read.

Agencies will receive credit towards the 25% reduction requirement for reducing the number of pages in a guidance document.

What information should be provided to show a 25% reduction?

Agencies will need to do two things to ensure that they receive credit for their regulatory reduction and streamlining efforts. First, they need to calculate the total number of regulatory requirements in the Alaska Administrative Code sections they issue and the total number of pages of all their guidance documents.

Using the counting methodology described above, agencies should come up with a number for regulatory requirements and a separate number for length of guidance documents and report it to their Agency Regulatory Liaison by October 13, 2025.

Second, agencies will need to track any regulatory action that involves adding or eliminating regulatory requirements or shortening or lengthening the number of pages in guidance documents. Depending on the type of change the agency is undertaking, it should report the following pieces of information:

Type of Change	What to Report	Example
Eliminating (or Adding)	Agency should report the	Agency eliminates a
Regulatory Requirements	original number of	requirement that forms be requirements and the new	notarized
	number in the Alaska Administrative Code
	section(s)
Decreasing (or Increasing)	Agency should report the	Agency reduces a fee from
Regulatory Costs	original total cost, and the new	$200 to $100 total cost associated with the requirement(s) it is amending
Reducing (or Increasing)	Agency should describe the	Agency replaces a design

Reducing (or Increasing)	Agency should report page	Agency shortens a previously
Length of Guidance	length of both the original and	10-page guidance document to
Documents	amended guidance documents	4-pages

In determining whether or not an agency has met its 25% goal, the Office of the Governor will provide "full credit" for any requirement an agency eliminates completely. For regulatory burdens an agency reduces, the Office of the Governor will provide "partial credit" using the cost data or other information the agency provides. For example, if an agency reduces a fee from $200 to $100, the regulatory stringency has been reduced by half, and it will thereafter be counted as "0.5 requirements" rather than "1 requirement." When an agency reduces the burden of a requirement in a non-monetizable way, the Office of the Governor will work with the agency to ensure it gets proper credit towards the 25% reduction.

In addition, for those regulations that are not eliminated entirely but that are modified to reduce overall stringency, the Office of the Governor will monitor agencies' reduction efforts and look for opportunities to highlight those agencies' good work.
