CPA APPLICATION FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION HOURS FOR A WRITTEN PUBLICATION
Per 12 AAC 04.390

The board will award continuing education hours for a published article or book written by a licensee if the board finds that the act of authorship improved the author's competency as a certified public accountant. The author may only receive hours for books or articles originally published within the preceding biennial licensing period. The board will review each submitted application on an individual basis, and will not award a licensee more than 20 hours per biennial licensing period. The board may award up to three hours for an article over 500 words that was published in a magazine, journal, newspaper, or other periodical. The board may award more than three hours for a larger publication, such as a book or extensive research article based on the time and effort required to produce the publication.

To obtain continuing education hours for a publication submit this completed application, with a entire copy of the article or book, and submit it with your biennial license renewal application.
