Dear Sir:

Please find the attached letter from the Anchorage Press. We did place an add in last week edition of the Press. The Press just forgot to attach the required warnings to our advertisement. I personally met with their staff to discuss the requirements of all advertising. It was just an oversight on their part.

Again, my sincere apology.

Best Regards,
Sue Nowland

Dear AMCO Enforcement;

The ad that appeared on Page B7 of the April 5, 2018 Anchorage Press for Alaska Fireweed did not have a cannabis disclaimer. This was an oversight. We will be vigilant in the future so this does not occur again.

AMCO Investigators received information that Jean Pellet was selling marijuana without a marijuana handlers permit and that under 21 persons had been on the licensed premises. Photos were also provided anonymously. Licensee Susan Nowland was contacted and shown the photos. Nowland denies Pellet was selling marijuana but admits he was in a restricted area. When asked about the visitors log, Nowland admits Pellet is not being signed into the visitor log 100% of the time. Pellet works for NM Enterprise, Inc. and is responsible for selling t-shirts. Pellet has periodically checked ID's at the entrance to the establishment but does not have a handlers permit. Regarding the children on the premises, Nowland stated they were her children and grandchildren. She took them through the restricted access area to gain access to the roof to watch Fur Rondy 2017 fireworks.
