

Obtaining a DUNS Number or Unique Entity ID Registering in SAM.gov A Guide for Alaska Federal Grant Applicants

All entities applying for federally funded awards, including the Alaska Seafood Processors Pandemic Response Relief Program, are required to have a valid unique identifier. Historically, the unique identifier used has been a DUNS Number, but that will be changing to the Unique Entity ID issued by SAM.gov in early April. The U.S. federal government will no longer require organizations to obtain a DUNS Number in order to register in SAM.gov beginning on April 4, 2022. After this date, entities that are new to federal funding may register in SAM.gov directly to obtain a unique identifier.

Definitions:

- A Data Universal Number System (DUNS) Number is a unique nine-digit identification number issued by Dun & Bradstreet (D&B). It is the old identifier that has been used by entities for many years when applying for federal funding. A DUNS number is site-specific, so each distinct physical location of an entity may be assigned a DUNS number.
- A Unique Entity ID is issued by SAM.gov. It is the new identifier that will be used by entities for federal awards processes from April 4, 2022 forward.

Obtaining a DUNS number and registering with SAM.gov are free for all entities doing business with the State of Alaska or the Federal government.

- For entities that already have a DUNS Number: Use that number on your application for the Alaska Seafood Processors Pandemic Response Relief Program.
- For entities that are not sure if they have a DUNS number: Go to fedgov.dnb.com/webform or call the D&B toll-free number (1-866-705-5711) to check your DUNS Number status.
- For entities that do not have a DUNS number:
 - Before March 29, 2022 (@ 5pm ET): Go to fedgov.dnb.com/webform to begin your online application. Indicate that you are a federal grant applicant/prospective applicant. In most cases, DUNS numbers are issued within hours of completion. March 29 is the last day to obtain a new DUNS Number from Dun & Bradstreet for registering an entity.
 - After April 4, 2022: Go to SAM.gov to register and obtain your Unique Entity ID. This will be used from now on in place of DUNS Numbers, which will no longer be relevant.
 - Between March 29 and April 4, 2022: SAM.gov will be down for maintenance to complete this transition beginning on April 1 at 8:00 PM (ET) until no later than 9:00 AM (ET) April 4.
