Sara Chambers Appointed Corporations, Business and Professional Licensing Director

(Juneau, AK) Sara Chambers joins the Department of Commerce, Community, and Economic Development as the newly appointed Director of the Division of Corporations, Business and Professional Licensing (CBPL).

Sara assumed her role as the director of CBPL on March 27, 2014. In her new role, Sara will oversee the Division's mission to ensure that competent, professional and regulated commercial services are available to Alaska consumers. Prior to her appointment, and since 2011, Sara has been responsible for leading the division's professional licensing section. Chambers' previous experience includes owning a small business, serving as a City and Borough Juneau Assembly member, and she is a former Alaska Journal of Commerce Top 40 Under 40 recipient.

"Sara's experience in CBPL, her prior management experience, and her background in strategy and implementation adds tremendous depth to the DCCED team" said Deputy Commissioner JoEllen Hanrahan. "I am confident that Sara's experience and dedication are well-matched with the department's mission."
