Renewal Edition

November 2009

It's renewal time, again!

January 31, 2010 is the lapse date for all Alaska real estate licenses. Regardless of the length of time someone has been licensed, the authority to practice real estate will end on that date unless the license has been renewed. The lapse date is unaffected by license status. Therefore, whether active or inactive, licensees will need to renew.

The status of your license is important. For clarification, we have listed the different types of licensure status.

Active

An active license will need to be renewed by January 31, 2010 to remain in a active status. If you renew as an active licensee your license is valid until the next renewal January 31, 2012.

Active to Inactive

To go from an active to an inactive license status you would be required to complete a Change of Status Application, and submit a $50.00 fee. When you inactivate your license, the 24 month inactive time period is effective the date the Real Estate Commission received the completed paperwork from the licensee requesting to go inactive.

Inactive

As an inactive licensee you also will be required to renew by January 31, 2010. If you renew as an inactive licensee by January 31, 2010, you remain inactively licensed until either:

- 1. you reactivate your license by your reactivation deadline date -or-
- 2. your license expires on the anniversary of your 24 month inactivation period

If you are in an inactive status and decided not to renew, you may consider completing the eight designated continuing education (DCE) hours before the end of the current renewal period. The DCE topics are different for each licensing period and the DCE for the current renewal may not be as readily available after the renewal period

Inactive to Active

To go from an inactive to an active license status you would be required to complete a Change of Status Application, and submit a $50.00 fee. If you reactivate within your 24 month inactivation period, the standard two year renewal date, January 31, 2012, becomes the next important date.

Lapsed due to non compliance of PLE

If you fail to complete your Post Licensing Education (PLE) before your prescribed deadline date, your license will go into a lapsed status until you:

- 1. show proof of completion of 30 hours of PLE, and
- 2. complete a Change of Status Application to reinstate due to non compliance of PLE and pay the appropriate fees

Renewal Information

Lapsed due to non-renewal

If you fail to renew your license before January 31, 2010, it will go into a lapsed status until you:

- 1. reinstate your license anytime before January 31, 2012 -or-
- 2. your license expires on the date of the next renewal deadline, January 31, 2012. If you want to conduct real estate activities you will have to reinstate your license.

Reinstatement to an active license requires you to complete a Change of Status Application to reinstate due to non-renewal, proof of completing 20 hours of continuing education, and payment of the appropriate fees.

If a license is in both an inactive and lapsed status, the licensee must reinstate and reactivate as an active licensee prior to the 24 months reactivation deadline.

Expired

If you have failed to renew your license before January 31, 2008, then you are in a lapsed status and must reinstate your license by January 31, 2010. If your license has been in a lapsed or inactive status for 24 months or more, your license is expired. If your license expires, you will be required to complete pre licensing education, pass the real estate salesperson exam and be assigned a new license number in order to practice real estate.

A Few Things to Remember During Renewal

- You must be active in order to perform as a real estate licensee.
- Know when your license expires.
- If you choose to go inactive, you are limited to a 24 month inactivation period which is different from the expiration date of the license. Know your deadline date for reactivation.
- You may renew your license while inactive; however, even if you renew inactive your license will expire on the 24 month inactive period if you do not reactivate.
- If your license is in a lapsed status 24 months or more, your license has expired and you will be required to follow the requirements of initial licensure (40 hours of pre licensing education, pass the real estate salesperson exam, apply for licensure as a salesperson).
- If you are registered with a referral office, you are considered an active licensee and you must complete 20 hours of continuing education and renew your license to remain in an active status.
- Know your dates and status!!!

Frequently Asked Questions

Q. If I renew my license and my broker decides not to renew his/her license what will happen to my license?

A. If a broker has allowed his/her license to lapse, the licenses of anyone who works in that broker's office will be suspended for the lack of an employing broker. If you have renewed your license, you have up to 30 days after the lapse of your broker's license to affiliate with a new broker. You must notify the Real Estate Commission office of your new employing broker.

Q. As a new licensee, do I have to complete the 20 hours of continuing education (CE)?

A. Real Estate licensees that have received their initial license prior to November 2, 2009 must complete 20 hours of CE before they can renew their license.

Q. I just received my license a couple of months ago, will I have to pay the entire renewal fee?

A. Those licensees that received their initial real estate license on or after February 1, 2009 will pay the prorated renewal fee of $137.50 (one half of the license fee) plus the entire surety fund fee of $91.00. The total fee for a prorated renewal is $228.50.

Q. What is the date that a licensee would not be required to renew or complete continuing education for this renewal period?

A. Those individuals that receive their real estate license 90 days prior to the expiration date of 1/31/2010 (on or after November 1, 2009) would not be required to complete continuing education or renew their license for this current licensing period. The expiration date of their license will be January 31, 2012. However, they will be required to complete CE for the next licensing period of February 1, 2010 - January 31, 2012 and renew their license at the next renewal.

Certifying False Information

On the license renewal application licensees are asked to certify that they have completed the required 20 hours of real estate continuing education (CE). After the last education audit, a small number of real estate licensees certified that they had completed the CE requirements when they submitted their renewal application to the Real Estate Commission (REC), when in fact they did not. It was found that the licensees either did not complete all of the required education hours, had completed the same course and could not get credit for the duplicate course thus not giving them enough hours or received incorrect information from a outside agency and completed their education after the licensing period.

The Real Estate Commission would like to remind all licensees that it is their responsibility to ensure that the renewal form is true and complete and that their education certificates are valid. If the renewal form is submitted to the REC (by mail or online) and it is later determined that the CE requirements have not been completed, the renewal application would be considered to be a false application. Per AS 11.56.201, it states that any person who knowingly furnishes false or fraudulent information on this application is subject to imprisonment for not more than one year, a fine of not more than $5,000 or both. Per regulation 12 AAC 64.160, making a false or fraudulent representation or material misstatement on an application for a license, renewal or examination is grounds for revocation, suspension or denial of a license.

If a licensee has not completed the full 20 hour CE requirement, they should take the immediate steps to do so prior to submitting a renewal form or completing your renewal online. All CE classes must have been completed before a licensee has submitted their renewal.

If you have any questions regarding your CE certificates, please call or e-mail the Commission and staff can review your certificates.

Timely Renewal

It is your responsibility as a licensee to assure that your license is renewed in a timely manner. Education requirements must be completed before you renew your license. You must renew by the expiration date, 01/31/2010, to keep your license current and practice real estate in Alaska. You can verify your expiration date, address and office information on the Alaska Real Estate Commission (AREC) web site, under Professional License Search.

You can renew online or download renewal forms from the AREC web site. The AREC is not responsible for U.S. Postal Service delivery or knowing where to find you if you have moved and not filed a change of address with our office. Failure to receive a renewal notice or a computer malfunction does not provide a valid excuse for not renewing your license by the expiration date.

The AREC web site is: www.commerce.state.ak.us/occ/prec.htm

Be Prepared for the CE Audit

The Commission will conduct a random audit of 10 % of all active and inactive real estate licensees for compliance of the continuing education requirements. Letters will be mailed 30 to 60 days after the end of the renewal period to notify those licensees that they have been audited. Please review all your continuing education certificates to ensure you have completed at least 20 hours (12 elective and 8 designated) and that they are valid. What you must remember is that YOU, the licensee, may be audited not the instructor or course sponsor.

It is the licensee's responsibility to make sure they have completed all the CE requirements and that their education certificates are valid.

Licensees can verify all courses through the REC web site at: www.commerce.state.ak.us/occ/prec.htm, or send an e-mail or fax to any of the REC staff and they can verify your CE certificates to ensure that you are ready to renew your license.

Is Your Business License Current?

Are you an independent contractor or an employee? Per business licensing regulation 12 AAC 12.020(b), independent contractors are required to have a business license. You can download a business license application at:

www.commerce.state.ak.us/occ/home.htm

You can turn in your business license application at the business license office or mail in your application to 550 W 7th Avenue, Suite 1500, Anchorage, AK 99501-3567 or PO Box 110806, Juneau, AK 99811-0806.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding business licenses, you may contact the business license office at 907.269.8160 in Anchorage or in Juneau at 907.465.2550 or by mail at: www.businesslicense@alaska.gov.

Business licenses expire at the end of the calendar year. If you have a business license, this would be a good time to check and make sure your business license is current.

Filing Deadline

All Real Estate licenses will expire on January 31, 2010; however, if the filing deadline falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or state holiday, the deadline will extend to the next regular business day. Therefore, renewal forms will be accepted by the Commission before or with a postmark date of Monday, February 1, 2010. Renewal forms submitted on or after February 2, 2010 will be considered late. Therefore, your license will lapse until the license is reinstated. If a renewal form is submitted by a method that does not provide a postmark date, the document will be considered filed as of the date received, stamped on the form.

Continuing Education Hours

All licensees must complete 20 hours of continuing education (CE) every two years in order to renew their real estate license, 8 hours of designated CE (DCE) and 12 hours of elective CE (ECE). Qualifying courses for the upcoming renewal period must have been completed from February 1, 2008 through January 31, 2010. Please check your certificates to ensure they are valid. If you are not sure, you may check for approved courses on the REC web site, call the provider of the course or call the Real Estate Commission office.

The current approved DCE topics are:

- Licensing Relationships (topic 1) 2 hours
- Prohibited Conduct (topic 18) 2 hours
- Property Disclosures & Inspections (topic 19) 2 hours
- Ethical Decision Making (topic 30) 2 hours

The list of topics can be found in regulation 12 AAC 64.500 (1) thru (41).

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

Licensees must notify the Real Estate Commission in writing of any address changes. Please send your changes by:

Keep Your CE Certificates

Each licensee is responsible for keeping his or her continuing education certificates for three years. If audited, licensees will be required to submit copies of their completed education certificates. The Commission office does not keep licensee education certificates on file. If you have lost a certificate(s), you will have to obtain duplicates from the instructor or entity that offered the course.
